

Why should an investigation be repeated?

It is sensible to repeat your investigation so that you can compare results to check that they are similar. Similar results are more reliable. An average can also be found.

